

Column One David Courtney

GENERAL Eisenhower's dramatic visit to Korea and his belatedly enthusiastic endorsement of the new approach. Spectacle and mystery have combined to give the occasion a feeling which should bring forth, at least something more than routine. The Republics will be forgiven, and perhaps blessed, if the new policy - assuming such - should turn out to be a carefully considered and should lead to a sensible political solution of what cannot be solved by military means short of continental war. On the evidence of a sensible political solution requires, as a condition, Western and U.S. recognition of the existing Government. With that condition fulfilled there would be more than a fair chance of ending the war in Korea and of negotiating a settlement in Indo-China.

There is not the slightest reason for supposing that General Eisenhower has finally decided upon any such "new approach" as such. He is merely expressing his hope that he and even Mr. John Foster Dulles - who has a flexible mind in such matters - may be willing to consider it in preference to keeping up a state of affairs that is costly, destructive, fruitless, and that keeps the Republics engaged, particularly in Korea and Indo-China, at a time when they are urgently needed to effect the return of individual prisoners of war to their homes.

General Eisenhower's visit to America is a political act of the kind that the Far Eastern Republics will have to take into account. It is a political act, and it is one that brings disappointment to the American people. At the same time, it will have performed a function complementary to what U.S. has been trying to do. Instead of one that might be construed as a withdrawal of U.S. efforts. The reports that he came back from Seoul are not promising; but the visit to the South Korean capital seems to have been largely a matter of ceremony, which Mr. Truman, who is a realist, turned his back on. The reports that he came back from Seoul are not promising; but the visit to the South Korean capital seems to have been largely a matter of ceremony, which Mr. Truman, who is a realist, turned his back on.

General Eisenhower's visit to Korea against the background of winter war in the Far East and the Republics' position on Korea. The situation may now be reversed. It may be possible now to see, with some hopefulness, the winter war in the Far East and the Republics' position on Korea. The situation may now be reversed. It may be possible now to see, with some hopefulness, the winter war in the Far East and the Republics' position on Korea.

No Hope for Missing Israel Vessel The search for the Israel ship, missing for three weeks with seven men aboard, was given up by Israel on Friday. The ship was last seen on Friday, and the search was abandoned. The ship was last seen on Friday, and the search was abandoned.

Civil Unrest Flares Up In French North Africa

TUNIS, Sunday. - Civil unrest flared up in French North Africa today in the wake of the murder of the nationalist leader, Ferhat Hached, on Friday. Riots were staged in the heart of Tunis between police and an angry crowd of 500 trying to march on the French Residency.

Indian Peace Plan Sent to Communists

NEW YORK, Sunday (AP). - Mr. Lester Pearson, President of the U.N. General Assembly, yesterday published his personal appeal to Premier and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai of People's China to end the Korean fighting on the terms of India's peace plan.

5,000 Dunams of Cereals Withheld

TEL AVIV, Sunday. - Five thousand dunams of winter cereal crops which were sown in the Jezreel before the last rain, and which had germinated, have dried up and will have to be replanted. It was learned from a Ministry of Agriculture spokesman today. The situation in other places in the North is causing concern, as sowing in these areas comes early in the season in expectation of early rains.

Eisenhower to Hold Policy Parley Today

ABOARD U.S.S. HULENA, Sunday (UPI). - President Dwight Eisenhower will hold important policy conferences with five of his Cabinet members and several advisers of his staff beginning tomorrow off Wake Island.

Eisenhower Promises Rhee More Aid

SEOUL, Sunday (Reuters). - South Korean President Syngman Rhee said in a statement issued today that General Dwight Eisenhower had assured South Korea of "greater assistance" in the future during his three-day visit.

Pr. Nagib To Call All-Party Political Talks

CAIRO, Sunday (Reuters). - Premier Nagib announced tonight that he will call a conference of all political leaders tomorrow to discuss "the supreme interests of the nation. He said, 'We are striving to wipe out past dissensions and close ranks.'"

Bill on Anti-State Crimes Approved

A draft amendment to existing penal laws, amounting to a bill on crimes against the State, was approved at a Cabinet meeting in Jerusalem yesterday.

Aluf Dayan to Head Military Operations and Intelligence

TEL AVIV, Sunday. - Aluf Moshe Dayan, O. C. of the Northern Command, was today appointed chief of "G" Branch at General Headquarters. The appointment takes effect tomorrow. This was the first major appointment made by the new Chief of the General Staff, Rav-Aluf Mordecai Maklef.

Bevan Denounces 'Peace Congress'

NUNEATON, Sunday (Reuters). - Mr. Aneurin Bevan, Labour left-wing leader, today called the Communist-sponsored "Peace Congress" in Vienna starting next Friday a "take day piggy bank" to divert attention from what is really happening.

Israel Warns Against Reparations Delay

TEL AVIV, Sunday. - The decision which was reached by the majority of Mapam delegates at Great Herta yesterday are being kept secret pending the final draft of a declaration.

Mapam Moderates Outvote Sneh Wing

TEL AVIV, Sunday. - The decision which was reached by the majority of Mapam delegates at Great Herta yesterday are being kept secret pending the final draft of a declaration.

Aluf Dayan to Head Military Operations and Intelligence

TEL AVIV, Sunday. - Aluf Moshe Dayan, O. C. of the Northern Command, was today appointed chief of "G" Branch at General Headquarters. The appointment takes effect tomorrow. This was the first major appointment made by the new Chief of the General Staff, Rav-Aluf Mordecai Maklef.

Bevan Denounces 'Peace Congress'

NUNEATON, Sunday (Reuters). - Mr. Aneurin Bevan, Labour left-wing leader, today called the Communist-sponsored "Peace Congress" in Vienna starting next Friday a "take day piggy bank" to divert attention from what is really happening.

Israel Rejects Note On Kibovy Recall

The Government yesterday rejected the Czechoslovak note demanding the recall of the Israeli Minister to Prague. Dr. A. Kibovy, at its weekly meeting yesterday, a Ministry for Foreign Affairs spokesman announced in Jerusalem.

Rejection Same As In Kennan's Case

A cable query from the Associated Press, New York, on "what the rejection of the Prague Note meant," was relayed to the Foreign Minister last night who replied: "Exactly the same as in the case of George Kennan."

Aluf Dayan to Head Military Operations and Intelligence

TEL AVIV, Sunday. - Aluf Moshe Dayan, O. C. of the Northern Command, was today appointed chief of "G" Branch at General Headquarters. The appointment takes effect tomorrow. This was the first major appointment made by the new Chief of the General Staff, Rav-Aluf Mordecai Maklef.

Bevan Denounces 'Peace Congress'

NUNEATON, Sunday (Reuters). - Mr. Aneurin Bevan, Labour left-wing leader, today called the Communist-sponsored "Peace Congress" in Vienna starting next Friday a "take day piggy bank" to divert attention from what is really happening.

Progressives Vote To Enter Coalition, Get 2 Gov't Posts

TEL AVIV, Sunday. - By 66 to 47, with one abstention, the Council of the Progressive Party tonight voted to join the Coalition Government.

Second President To be Elected Today

Balloting by the Knesset for the second President of Israel will take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The Knesset is giving up its entire session today to the election, which is expected to take some hours, as the balloting is secret.

Aluf Dayan to Head Military Operations and Intelligence

TEL AVIV, Sunday. - Aluf Moshe Dayan, O. C. of the Northern Command, was today appointed chief of "G" Branch at General Headquarters. The appointment takes effect tomorrow. This was the first major appointment made by the new Chief of the General Staff, Rav-Aluf Mordecai Maklef.

Bevan Denounces 'Peace Congress'

NUNEATON, Sunday (Reuters). - Mr. Aneurin Bevan, Labour left-wing leader, today called the Communist-sponsored "Peace Congress" in Vienna starting next Friday a "take day piggy bank" to divert attention from what is really happening.

WANTED TODAY 1000 PERSONS TO GIVE ONE POUND EACH TO THE JERUSALEM POST-SARAD TOY FUND

Press Speculates About Deadlock In Presidential Vote Today

The deadlock approached in today's election for Israel's second President figures prominently in yesterday's press comment. In "Al Hanihman" (Herald) Mr. Y. Grunbaum, the independent presidential candidate, is quoted as saying that the present deadlock is not a permanent one, but a temporary one, and that the election will be held in a few days.

In Politics

THE JERUSALEM BUSINESSMAN'S MEETING

King David Hotel

Social & Personal

Mr. and Mrs. David Ben-Gurion were in London on their way to the United States. They will be in New York on December 10th and will then travel to Washington.

Dr. Y. K. Kuper, President of the Jewish Agency, has arrived in Jerusalem. He will be in the city for a few days before returning to his home in New York.

Mr. M. P. Pines, a member of the Knesset, has been elected to the position of Chairman of the Committee on the Revision of the Basic Law.

Mr. M. Pines, a member of the Knesset, has been elected to the position of Chairman of the Committee on the Revision of the Basic Law.

Mr. M. Pines, a member of the Knesset, has been elected to the position of Chairman of the Committee on the Revision of the Basic Law.

Mr. M. Pines, a member of the Knesset, has been elected to the position of Chairman of the Committee on the Revision of the Basic Law.

Mr. M. Pines, a member of the Knesset, has been elected to the position of Chairman of the Committee on the Revision of the Basic Law.

Mr. M. Pines, a member of the Knesset, has been elected to the position of Chairman of the Committee on the Revision of the Basic Law.

World Newsmen Urge Freedom of Press

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sunday (Reuters).—The World Congress of Journalists, which opened here on Friday, called for a permanent world committee of professional bodies of journalists to safeguard freedom of expression in print, broadcast and television.

This was one of the recommendations of the report by the Commission of Freedom of the Press which was presented to the Congress by its President, Mr. J. H. P. Jones.

The Congress decided to "promote the elimination of those factors which restrict the freedom of the press."

1. Prohibition of any form of censorship or restriction of the press.

2. Prohibition of any form of censorship or restriction of the press.

3. Prohibition of any form of censorship or restriction of the press.

4. Prohibition of any form of censorship or restriction of the press.

U.S. Football Season Ends With Wins for Navy, Penn, Irish

PHILADELPHIA.—The regular 1952 football season came to an end over Thanksgiving Day weekend with some of the most bitterly-contested games seen this year. In three of the major games the Navy defeated Army 7-6; Penn defeated Cornell 14-7 to win the Ivy League title, and Notre Dame pulled a big surprise to beat the University of Southern California, the Rose Bowl contender, 9 to 0.

The biggest football crowd of the year, 125,000, packed Municipal Stadium here to watch the Midwestern game in a row before President Truman and the Cabinet. Navy launched 10 passes inside the five-yard line against the valiant Cadets and only one was successful.

The University of Pennsylvania rolled to its 10th Ivy League championship in 15 years when it beat Cornell. Both touchdowns came on long ground out scoring marches.

The victory was Penn's fourth against three defeats and two ties. The team, coached by George Munger, a 15-year record of never having experienced a losing season.

The Fighting Irish broke USC's unbeaten record and came up with a modest record of their own in winning their seventh of the season. The South Coast aggregation has beaten or tied five teams that either hold or share conference titles—Texas, Purdue, Oklahoma, Southern California and Penn.

They were beaten by Michigan State and Pittsburgh, and tied by Penn State.

Georgia Tech stepped to a 20-0 win over Georgia and its first perfect season in 20 years. Minnesota defeated Iowa 20-0, and Texas Tech defeated Oklahoma 20-0.

WANTED LIGHT CAR

MODEL 1942-48
ALSO 1 TON ARMY TYPE VAN.
Can be better used.
George & Robert Glick.
Tel Aviv.

BOOKS FOR SALE

European, national, with writing table and lamp. Good condition. Inquire at 10, Tel Aviv.

WANTED Long Playing Records

New or slightly used. Large or small quantities. RUSSEOL
1 Rehov Jabotinsky, Tel Aviv.
Hours: 12-1; 4-7; Fridays, 12-4. On out-of-town orders, please send list.

FOR SALE FORD VI

Sports Model 1950 (convertible) 4 or 6 seat, huge packing space, in excellent condition. First-class tires. Motor excellent. Complete overhaul. For appointment apply to Mr. Glick, Secretary Advertising, Tel Aviv.

2-ROOM FLAT WANTED

In cooperative house near Rehov Yehuda Halevi. For purchase at moderate price.

Want to Rent

for one year
Ramat Gan or vicinity
UNFURNISHED
9½-4-ROOM
Flat or House
Guarantee to vacate. No agents.
Write P.O.B. 1127, TEL AVIV.

WANTED OFFICE WORKER

(female)
for light office work and some correspondence (Hebrew and English). Only reliable persons with experience in clerical work should apply to:
KENET LTD.
Ramat Gan (P.O.B. 1)
Aviv Tel 511.

To All Consumers

We would draw the attention of consumers to the fact that since the decontrol of cabbage and cauliflower, we have fixed the prices as follows:

CLASS A CAULIFLOWER
Tours Warehouses will sell Class A cauliflowers to the retailer at 120 pruta per kilo and the retailer is permitted to sell it for not more than 140 pruta per kilo.

CLASS A CABBAGE
The Tours Warehouses will sell Class A cabbage to the retailer for 100 pruta per kilo and the retailer is permitted to sell it for not more than 120 pruta per kilo.

Central Tissues Ltd.

EMERGENCY PHARMACIES

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

REQUIRED English Stenotypist

with knowledge of Hebrew. Write to Mr. Glick, Secretary Advertising, Tel Aviv.

For You Ltd.

Fancy Leather Work
Handbags-Belts
Gloves-Scarves
Handkerchiefs
Artificial Flowers
Blouses embroidered by Hand
Hand Knitted Pullovers and Cardigans
Exclusive Models
Fine Jewellery
Crystal
Porcelain
Articles of Art

Want to Rent

for one year
Ramat Gan or vicinity
UNFURNISHED
9½-4-ROOM
Flat or House
Guarantee to vacate. No agents.
Write P.O.B. 1127, TEL AVIV.

WANTED OFFICE WORKER

(female)
for light office work and some correspondence (Hebrew and English). Only reliable persons with experience in clerical work should apply to:
KENET LTD.
Ramat Gan (P.O.B. 1)
Aviv Tel 511.

To All Consumers

We would draw the attention of consumers to the fact that since the decontrol of cabbage and cauliflower, we have fixed the prices as follows:

CLASS A CAULIFLOWER
Tours Warehouses will sell Class A cauliflowers to the retailer at 120 pruta per kilo and the retailer is permitted to sell it for not more than 140 pruta per kilo.

CLASS A CABBAGE
The Tours Warehouses will sell Class A cabbage to the retailer for 100 pruta per kilo and the retailer is permitted to sell it for not more than 120 pruta per kilo.

Central Tissues Ltd.

NOTICE

To the Holders of Preference Shares "B" and "C" in our Company.

The extraordinary General Meeting of our Company held at Kfar Ata on December 5, 1952, has resolved to give the holders of Preference Shares in the Company, the right to convert their Preference Shares into Ordinary Shares "A" entitled to the full dividend for the year 1952, upon payment of a premium of 20 per cent. This right must be exercised by January 31, 1953.

The Holders of Preference Shares desirous to avail themselves of this opportunity should contact the Company's secretary (P.O.B. 80, Haifa) or through their bankers.

J. ABRAHAMOV, Secretary
Kfar Ata, December 1, 1952.

1st Trees Planted In Janower Forest

South Africans came from all over Israel yesterday to witness the first plantings in the Joseph Janower Forest on a rocky hill overlooking Tzfat, the Israeli-South African kibbutz in the Hatzefa region in the Jerusalem Corridor. Joseph Janower, in whose memory 30,000 trees have been donated to the Jewish National Fund by South African Kibbutzim, was a veteran member of the J.N.F. Board of Directors, and a leader in Zionist affairs both here and in the Union.

Mr. K. Kuper, President of the S.A. Zionist Federation, recalled the devotion of his late colleague to all that Israel stood for, and told the large crowd of visitors and pioneers that no memorial would have pleased the deceased more than this green one.

Mr. K. Gluckman, one of the Union's foremost women Zionists, joined other friends of Mr. Janower in eulogizing the man and the leader. Representing the J.N.F., Mr. Joseph Weiss said that the Janower Forest would form part of a vast afforestation scheme, including the "Marjory" Forest, which would steadily clothe the rocky hills from Jerusalem to the coastal plain.

A young settler from Tzfat reminded guests that it was exactly four years since the foundation of the kibbutz. He called on South African youth to come to Tzfat, not only for economic reasons, but to join in the work of settlement.

Thousands to the Tel Aviv Show on Saturday have been reminded to buy their tickets in advance.

May Yield to Pressure

"Hanihman" also attacks Mapai on this issue but suspects that the Orthodox coalition partners might eventually yield to Mapai's pressure.

Dr. M. Tavor, the Knesset correspondent of "Davar" (Hatzefa) recalls that according to the original Presidential Bill, as introduced by the Government, a deadlock would have been avoided by the bill being altered in the Legislative Committee, and the warning of Mr. I. Harni (Progressive) who predicted exactly the present situation, was not heeded by the majority which, in the correspondence, was "accusatory" in its attitude.

"Davar" (Hatzefa) asks the Government to refuse most energetically the "mendacious and miserable" arguments brought forward by the Chacholsky Government against the Israel Army, Mr. A. Kuper, it is true that the Israel Minister continually interfered in affairs of State as now alleged, why was there not a single protest until now the paper asks. It emphasizes that the fostering of Jewish immigration to Israel, in the framework of the laws of the country of immigration, is one of the main tasks of every Israel Minister, and this right has never been disputed by the Chacholsky Government, including President Gotwald, with whom Dr. Kuper negotiated on this issue, and from whom he received earlier promises as to the exit of the Jewish candidates. The real reason for the demand of Mr. Kuper's recall is, according to "Davar," that the Chacholsky Government wishes to get rid of the man to whom President Gotwald has given his promise to permit the emigration of some thousands of Jews to Israel.

"Telat Aharon," an independent evening paper, says that after the last step of Prague against the Israel envoy

Where to go

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

JERUSALEM CINEMAS

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

SHIPS IN HAIFA PORT

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Hania Hapool Win Zeller Memorial Cup

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Hanukka Ball

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

THE HAIFA ORCHESTRA

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

Jerusalem: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Tel Aviv: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19, Haifa: Rehov Yehuda Halevi, 19.

THE WEATHER
 Jerusalem: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 55-65.
 Tel Aviv: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Haifa: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 55-65.
 Beer Sheva: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Ramat Gan: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Lod: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Netanya: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Ashdod: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Ashkelon: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Gaza: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Egypt: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Syria: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Iraq: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Turkey: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Greece: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Italy: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 France: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Germany: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Poland: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Czechoslovakia: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Slovakia: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Hungary: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Austria: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Switzerland: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Italy: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 France: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Germany: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Poland: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Czechoslovakia: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Slovakia: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Hungary: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Austria: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.
 Switzerland: Partly cloudy, with light rain at times. Temperature: 60-70.

Army Using More Local Products

TEL AVIV, Sunday. — Locally produced goods are being used to an increasing extent to supply the army, Mr. I. Korman, director of the Ministry of Defense Supply Department, told correspondents here today.

The minister of the army now uses 100 per cent local goods, while 95 per cent of cotton goods are produced by local manufacturers. The army must still import 15 per cent of the footwear it needs. The figures three years ago were 60 per cent for cotton and cotton materials, and 40 per cent in shoes.

The army has still to import 30 per cent of the foodstuff it requires as compared with 60 per cent two years ago. The Ministry of Defense was helping local production whenever possible, Mr. Korman said. Tenders are circulated internally among a body of approved suppliers and the best, but not necessarily the cheapest, is given orders. The Ministry is also on the supply by a number of experts from all trades and sectors who act as a voluntary basis. The Ministry maintains small purchase delegations in New York, London, Paris and Rome.

A number of garages for the Ministry of Defense's fleet of cars is being erected in the area. Mr. Korman said, Army uniforms are being cut in a Ministry of Defense workshop and given out to private tailors to be sewn. Repair and renewal of old equipment of all kinds, except arms, is made in work shops operated directly by the Ministry of Defense Supply Department.

'Enclosed Find Small Cheque'

"Enclosed find a small cheque," writes Mr. Norman Jay Green, of New York, who sent $5 to help bring some light to more children through the Post-World Toy Fund. The cheque will be sent to the Post-World Toy Fund, which helps the children of the world.

Contributions today stood at $1,125,000 — and we are today spending 1,000 of our readers to send to the fund. Being so small, money is in any of the offices of The Jerusalem Post.

Latest contributors include: H.L. — El Al Airline Association in memory of the crew killed last November; Yehuda Glick, Richard Constant, Yehuda Glick, George Hershman, George Hershman, H.L. — Consolidated Bethlehem Ltd., H.L. — Tora Ltd., Tel Aviv; H.L. — El Al Airline Association in memory of the crew killed last November; Yehuda Glick, Richard Constant, Yehuda Glick, George Hershman, George Hershman, H.L. — Consolidated Bethlehem Ltd., H.L. — Tora Ltd., Tel Aviv.

22,700 Opt Out; 1,000 Israel Born

TEL AVIV, Sunday (JTM). — Of 22,700 persons who opted out of Israeli citizenship, 1,000 were Israel-born, Mr. Yehoshua Shapira, Director of Immigration, told the press here today. Claiming they were "Citizens of Jerusalem" 300 members of the National Knesset also waived citizenship.

Only two per cent of the total population opted to opt out; of those who did, 75 per cent were new immigrants and 25 per cent were veteran residents.

Of the total, 25 per cent were French (immigrants from Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco), 20 per cent African citizens, and 55 per cent American and Australian. One hundred persons were Czechoslovak, 200 Polish, 21 Hungarian, 20 Soviet citizens, 200 Romanians, 150 Bulgarian, and 200 from East and West Germany.

The applications for opting out, handed in by 750 statesmen, will not be considered as they will be 400 more before Israel citizens automatically. The same applies to 30 who claim to be Syrian citizens, and to 200 Iraqi as well as former alleged citizens of the "People's Democratic Republic" who could not prove their former status.

While 22,000 immigrants arrived during 1952, 12,500 left for other countries during the year. For the first time in its history, Israel had this year a natural increase greater than the rise in population through immigration.

In 1951, 1,600 from English-speaking countries immigrated, as compared to 4,500 who came in 1950. Since the birth of the State, 20,000 persons left the country — 2.5 per cent of the total immigration.

The population in Israel has increased by 125 per cent during the past four and a half years and now stands at 1,400,000 while there were 170,000 non-Jews, who now form 11 per cent of the total.

Plan to Get Current By First of January

Jerusalem will not receive current until the last week in December, because that week has still to be carried out and the transformation given a brief run according to schedule of the Starter plant.

Mr. S. Karmali, managing director of Shikmon, said last night, however, that his firm could begin to send power to the Capital as soon as the cable had been laid by the Palestine Electric Corporation.

P.E.C. technicians are working at top speed to finish the connection between the generators at the plant and the Jerusalem power station. To avoid disturbing residents supplied by the existing P.E.C. line in the Corridor, a diversion was made near Castel, and has already met up with the new cable.

Poles have been placed along the Jerusalem highway to Motza, and only a small distance separates the cable from a P.E.C. transformer at the entrance to the Jerusalem industrial zone. Last week, P.E.C. transported a large transformer to a site near the Shikmon power-house. This too, is in the final stages of installation, and should be ready within a few days.

Swiss Admin Defeat In Sealing Everest

NEW DELHI, Sunday (Herald). — The Swiss climbers who have been bottled in their recent attempt to climb Mount Everest this year will be home by Christmas, Swiss circles in Delhi said today.

The expedition, which was to start its ascent at the end of November, should now be well advanced on the lower part of the mountain and are expected to reach the summit by the end of the year.

The climbers hope to make another attempt in 1953 if neither the British expedition next year nor the French in 1954 meet with success.

Marty, Tilton Stripped Of Office By French CP

PARIS, Sunday. — The French Communist Party Central Committee today stripped M. André Marty and M. Charles Tilton of all functions in the party and prepared to expel M. Marty from the organization.

The Committee, meeting in the working class suburb of Gennevilliers, declared that M. Marty and his fellow "deviations" M. Charles Tilton had ignored all attempts to attend the conference.

The Committee decided to call on the party cell to which Marty belongs to consider whether he could remain a party member since he had worked against the policies and discipline of the party and had cooperated with the police.

Under the Communist Party constitution a cell has the final word on the fate of one of its members. If it wants to remain in favour with the party hierarchy, it has no alternative but to expel Marty from its ranks.

André Marty, 46 years old, was a member of the French party since 1927, and was elected to the Central Committee in 1937. He was expelled from the party in 1952.

The decision on Mr. Tilton, who was expelled from the party in 1952, was also made by the party cell.

Both have been in dispute with their opposition to the current party line, and have been expelled from the party.

Cables in Brief

TRANS-POLAR FLIGHT. — The Trans-Polar Flight, "The Arctic Explorer," left New York today for a journey to the North Pole. The flight is being made by a four-engine Lockheed Constellation, and is expected to reach the North Pole in 1953.

SHIPWRECK. — The British ship "The Arctic Explorer," which was wrecked in the Arctic, is being rescued by a Soviet ship. The ship was carrying a cargo of oil, and is expected to reach the Soviet coast in 1953.

VIET. — The Viet Cong, who are fighting against the French, have captured a number of French soldiers. The Viet Cong are also fighting against the American forces in South Vietnam.

CHINA. — The Chinese government has announced that it will not accept the terms of the Geneva Conference. The Chinese government is also fighting against the American forces in China.

Death of P.L.O. Guy, Archaeologist

We regret to announce that Lt.-Colonel Philip Langstaffe Guy, leading archaeologist and life-long friend of Zionism, died in his Jerusalem home yesterday at the age of 67. The funeral will be held from his home at 15 Rehov Shikmona Hama'ala at 3 p.m. today. The burial will take place at the American Cemetery in the Golan Colony, Jerusalem.

An Appreciation
 Lt.-Col. Guy, who was described as a "good English gentleman," was born in London in 1885. He was educated at Eton and at the Royal Military Academy, Sandhurst. He was a member of the British Legion, and was awarded the Distinguished Service Order for his services in the First World War.

During the Mandate days he was Director of Antiquities, and then Director of the Archaeological Survey of Israel, directing a number of important excavations. He was also a member of the Palestine Council, and was a member of the Jewish Agency for Israel.

His death will be a great loss to the archaeological community in Israel, and to the Jewish Agency for Israel.

19,000 Pupils Affected By Teachers' Strikes

TEL AVIV, Sunday. — About 19,000 children were sent home by teachers in Petah Tikva, Bnei Brak, Ramat Gan, Givatayim and Yehud went on strike today. They have not received their November salaries.

Teachers in Petah Tikva will resume classes tomorrow as they were promised payment of their November salaries not later than Wednesday, but the 20 teachers of Yehud have declined the Local Council's offer of half their pay.

Kariv Pledges Pay To City Workers

MAYOR T. KARIV yesterday promised workers of the Jerusalem Municipality that their November salaries would be paid in 10 days. In a letter to the Workers' Council he noted that the city was seeking loans to cover the $1,170,000 payroll.

Teachers in the schools in Elia Karmel, Manassah and Beth Mahail have informed the City that they will not report to work if the strike of school janitors is not soon settled.

School teachers in the Jerusalem area, meanwhile, will begin to receive their November salaries today.

Verdict in Shilansky Trial Due Sunday

TEL AVIV, Sunday. — The verdict in the Dov Shilansky trial will be given next Sunday. District Court Judge M. Kessel today heard the summing up speeches of the defense and prosecution.

Last week the judge found Shilansky guilty of being in possession of a time-bomb in one of the buildings of the Foreign Ministry compound at Harkira on October 5.

After the hearing of character witnesses who testified as to Shilansky's mild temperament and good nature, Mr. E. E. Shilmon, acting for the State, said that he accepted these as facts. He said, however, that he could not accept Shilansky's version that he came to the Foreign Ministry for the sole purpose of getting caught. This was illogical, he said.

Shilansky carried a bomb which had exploded might have caused a lot of damage. His action caused harm to the State, and in democratic Israel he had other means at his disposal to voice his objections to the reparations agreement with Germany. "In view of recurrent incidents similar to that involving Shilansky I must ask for a stern sentence," the Prosecutor concluded.

Mr. E.M. Tamir, the defense attorney, claimed that a man with Shilansky's underground experience would not have done such a "childish" job if he intended depositing a bomb. He was caught because he had informed the police of the exact time and location of his contemplated action, and the police had no right concealing this fact, Mr. Tamir claimed.

He said Shilansky was a symbol of the strong feeling current in Israel for the Jews slaughtered in Europe and against any dealings with Germany. He asked the court, therefore, for a symbolic punishment only.

Lack of Funds Stops Police Recruiting

TEL AVIV, Sunday. — Recruiting by the Police Force has been stopped due to budget difficulties, Inspector-General Yehoshua Shikhar told The Post today.

He said that his Force was still understaffed, but that resignations had dropped. Questioned on the activities of the Police Efficiency Commission, Mr. Shikhar said that this was independent of the efficiency commission now examining various Government offices, and that no administrative or structural changes of the police were envisaged.

DEAD — Major Lindemann, who has been Executive Director of the American Trade Union Council for the Middle East for 18 years, died yesterday in a New York hospital.

Kishon Project Being Expanded

HAIFA, Sunday. — A second dredge recently arrived from Holland has begun digging operations in the Kishon Project canal. Work is continuing steadily. The 300 metres of quays are almost practically completed and a 600-metre length of breakwater is also finished.

The original plan for the project has been enlarged. The main canal is now being deepened to take ships of up to 5,000 tons while it will be widened to accommodate vessels of up to 20,000 tons. The estimated cost of the harbor has been doubled due to increased labour costs and the enlarged programme.

Dredging, originally slated to be completed by the year's end, will continue for some months more because of the increased scope of the project.

IL 10,500 PAID TO VICTIM'S FAMILY

The Jerusalem Electric Corporation yesterday agreed to pay IL 10,500 compensation to the family of Mordechai Mandel, 24, who was electrocuted last January while repairing a power line in the Golan quarter.

The family will also get IL 1,200 from the company provident fund. The family was represented in the settlement negotiations by Mr. Yitzhak Neuman, attorney.

Curfew Reduced In Baghdad Area

BAGHDAD, Sunday (AP). — A further reduction in the curfew hours in the Baghdad district was announced by the Commander of the Military Administration today. Curfew will be observed from midnight to 5 a.m.

The new Government is continuing its efforts to ease economic difficulties suffered by the poorer classes. Reductions in the curfew hours, and the reduction of free teaching for all schools and universities will cost the government $2m.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of a newspaper's editorial office, and not the opening of a newspaper's business office. The Court ruled that since the editorial office of a newspaper was not explicitly included, the by-law was "ultra vires" and was void.

The Court was presided over by Mr. M. Cohen, and the by-law was represented by Mr. A. Angel.

Acquitted Of Opening Office On Sabbath

Mr. John Adler, Manager of The Jerusalem Post, was acquitted by the Jerusalem Municipal Court last week of having violated the law by permitting the paper's editorial office to be opened before the close of the Sabbath on April 4, 1952.

Under a city by-law, newspapers may not open their offices before the end of the Sabbath. The Court, however, accepted the plea that the by-law was intended to prevent the opening of

THE JERUSALEM POST

Published by The Jerusalem Post Ltd.
 Registered in the G.P.O.
 Second class postage paid at New York, N.Y.
 Postmaster: Send address changes to The Jerusalem Post Ltd., 100 Madison Ave., New York 17, N.Y.
 Telephone: MU 2-1111
 Telegrams: JERUSALEM
 Cable: JERUSALEM
 Subscriptions: $5.00 per year in advance
 Single copies: 10¢
 Entered as Second Class Matter, October 10, 1937
 Post Office No. 100, New York, N.Y.

FOR one Government to inform another that its envoy will no longer be persona grata is rare in diplomatic practice, but the terms in which the Czechoslovak Note to Israel suggesting this of Dr. Kibov was couched are even rarer and perhaps without precedent in modern international usage. Nor is the barefaced invention in which the Note abounds something to which we have become accustomed even in the unrelenting exchanges to which the countries behind the Iron Curtain are driven to resort. It might be useful to Czechoslovakia, for internal purposes, to suggest that repeated protests have been made to Israel during the past four years at their interference in her domestic affairs. It is rather a pity for Czechoslovakia that the impression made upon the world outside should be blurred by the fact that no record exists of any such protest ever having yet been received by the Israel Foreign Ministry.

The Israel Government has, in all the circumstances, acted with admirable forbearance. If it had chosen to break off diplomatic relations with Czechoslovakia at this moment it would certainly have had plenty of justification. In normal circumstances the campaign of vilification and incitement issuing from Prague during the recent trial could have led to no other result. The fact that Israel has chosen to make a dignified reply to the charges and has refused to appoint another diplomat to succeed Dr. Kibov is sufficient protest at the moment.

There are, after all, other circumstances involved in our maintenance, at any cost, of relations with the East European People's democracies. Israel, by its very nature, is committed to an over-riding policy of the ingathering of the exiles and can thus afford to abandon the hope of some day establishing once again contact with the Jewries of Eastern Europe and eventually arriving at some modus vivendi which will pave the way for those who wish to return to their ancestral land. While there is the slightest chance of this happening, diplomatic relations must be maintained and we must hold whatever common ground there is, however narrow it be.

The further disruption of contacts between East and West which a break would entail can only harm the interests of world peace as a whole. Every effort to maintain even a trickle of trade or any other civilized contact between the peoples of both opposing world camps postpones the evil day when the world will finally be sundered into two hostile, mutually enmited halves. It is true that most of the Czechoslovaks who could obtain from the West; but that countries should preserve a multilateral system of world trade is also an essential in the maintenance of this independence and in the building of an eventual pattern of world peace.

Now far, however, the present situation between Israel and the Eastern Bloc countries can actually continue is a matter which must cause the gravest doubt and anxiety. The political theory of Communist lands now definitely forces a declassification of the Jewish people, in spite of the claim that the regimes there make that they have in no way impugned the article of the Communist faith which holds anti-Semitism to be antithetical. They openly encourage them to be a weapon of aggressive imperialism which runs counter to the interests of the masses. It is becoming increasingly clear that this new weapon of anti-Semitism might be an effective anti-Communism ever since its liquidation in the hands of the "People's Democracies" the last remnants of Jews who cling to any Jewish values. As this dangerous theory reveals itself and as the justification follows, Israel will be forced to recognize them as a hostile as to maintain any common interest completely impossible. This is a tragic development for a small country which has consistently sought the ends of peace and maintained its belief in humanity.

Personality Sketches

Four Candidates for Presidency

Ben-Zvi
 For 17 years during the British Mandatory regime here, Mr. Ben-Zvi, who has made Jerusalem his home for nearly 45 years, headed the National Council for Palestine Jews (Vaad Leumi) and was then the official representative of the Palestine Jewish Community. His roots in the country, going back to 1897 (having come on a visit two years earlier), are deeper than those of any of his rival candidates for the Presidency.

Since the dissolution of the Vaad Leumi after the establishment of the State, Mr. Ben-Zvi has not been active politically. He rarely raised his deep bass voice in the Provisional State Council or in the Knesset, but he demonstrated his independence as a member of the Knesset when he was elected to a Parliamentary Committee investigating complaints of anti-religious propaganda in the immigrant camps, he acknowledged that the Religious Bloc's protests had not been groundless.

He was one of the founders of the "Polek Zion" in Russia, a pupil and disciple of the late Alexander Ziskind Rabinovitch ("Ahar") and was the closest collaborator of Ben-Borochov, the theoretician of Socialist Zionism.

A man of scholarly bent, Mr. Ben-Zvi is the author of numerous books and papers on the history of Palestine, and his book on the Samaritans is a standard work. With Mr. Ben-Gurion he produced in the United States during the First World War a historical geography of the country, in Yiddish; perhaps the only one of its kind.

Mr. Ben-Zvi is 68.

Dr. Bernstein
 Minister for Commerce and Industry in the Provisional Government, Dr. Shlomo Bernstein, M.K., was President of the Jewish Agency Executive from 1939 to 1944, and a member of its executive for six years before that. German-born, he made his home in his youth, and settled in Palestine in 1938.

Trade, industry, and economic theory were the subjects he followed at the University, and on completing his studies engaged in the coffee trade in Holland. An incisive publicist, Dr. Bernstein was at the head of the stein was at the head of the Zionist movement in Holland, and was closely associated with the late Nehemiah de Lema, an economist of the Socialist school who advocated stern economic principles in the development of Palestine.

Dr. Bernstein is the author of a penetrating study on anti-Semitism ("Anti-Semitism as a Social Force," in German), in which he urged the idea that the remedy for the anti-Semitic malady was to take the Jews out from among the nations and concentrate them on their own soil.

Having come to the country as a Zionist investor, within a year of his arrival Dr. Bernstein was elected to the Executive of the General Zionist Organization here, and became its President in 1943. For six years until 1948, he was co-editor of "Hahochma." In the same year he was elected a member of the Jewish Agency Executive in charge of the Trade and Industry Department. With that he was a logical candidate for the Trade and Industry Ministry in the Provisional Government. He is at present the leader of the General Zionist opposition bloc in the Knesset. He is 62.

Isiah Gruenbaum
 Mr. Isiah Gruenbaum, for many years leader of Polish Jewry, pivotal figure of the Minorities Bloc in the Sejm (Parliament) and head of the Radical wing of the Zionist Organization, is 72.

He was Minister of Interior in the Provisional Government of 1948 as a representative of the left wing of the General Zionist Party. He stood for election to the First Knesset in 1949 as an independent, after his faction merged with others to form the Progressive Party. He failed of election. He has since moved towards left radicalism, and although he has not joined Mapam, Mr. Gruenbaum is a regular contributor to "Al Hamishmar," on the "I-write-as-I-feel" principle.

As a member of the Jewish Agency Executive, he disassociated himself from drastic action against the disident terrorist groups. Always a stormy petrel, Mr. Gruenbaum is universally respected for his courage and integrity.

Like Mr. Ben-Zvi, he lost a son in the War of Liberation.

Rabbi Nurock
 Rabbi Mordecai Nurock, the Minister of Piousness and Telegraphy, is a comparative newcomer to Israel, having settled here only in 1947. But his association with this country goes back half a century. In 1897, he was a delegate from his native Poland to the Great Russian Zionist Convention in Moscow, and in the following year was amongst those who marched out of the Russian Congress of Rade after the Congress voted to accept the Uganda offer from the British Government.

Rabbi Nurock spent both world wars in Russia. He was deported to the interior by Czar Nicholas during the First World War and promptly made a mark for himself, becoming vice-president of the Jewish Community Council which represented six-million Russian Jews.

In the Second World War, he was arrested in Riga and sent to Central Russia where he was brought to trial for his Zionist activities. He was rescued through the personal intervention of President Roosevelt at the intervention of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, and was freed in Tashkent in April, 1943, after 14 months of imprisonment. While he was in prison, Riga was captured by the Nazis and his wife and two sons perished.

As a member of the Knesset, he has gained respect for his independence. In votes on matters of conscience, such as the question of reparations from Germany and the laws governing underground fighters (which at first excluded veterans of the Iron Zval Leumi and the Stern Group from the benefits) he took an individual line against that of the Coalition, to which he belongs as a Mithari Member. He is 63.

WINTHROP W. ALDRICH
 Chairman of the Chase National Bank, one of the largest in the country (referred to in Wall Street as the "Rockefeller Bank") has been named as President-elect Eisenhower as his Ambassador to London. Political commentators will no doubt point out that this most coveted of ambassadorial posts usually goes to a wealthy contributor to the campaign, officers who have a wife with social ambitions.

I don't know if Mr. Aldrich is looking forward to her presentation at Court with estate anticipation or democratic indifference, but that Mr. Aldrich is a loyal Republican who has done his financial stint for the party is a fact. His other qualifications for the job of maintaining close Anglo-American friendship in these times of stress and strain are the same as the General's big business cabinet — an international veneer coated not too thickly over an old-fashioned, conservative — some would call it reactionary — body and soul.

Free World's Problems
 Mr. Aldrich's last public appearance was at the World Trade Dinner at the 26th Annual Foreign Trade Convention at the Waldorf-Astoria ballroom on November 13, which I attended as the guest of an Israeli shipper. Mr. Aldrich pointed out on this occasion that there were four basic economic problems facing the "Free World":

1. The existing unworkability of foreign currencies.
2. The existing restriction and discrimination of the world markets by commodity cartels.
3. The existing restriction on imports into the United States and other free world countries.
4. The existing restriction on the movement of American private capital.

All four are tied together and will be at the top of his mind during his economic talks in London. The deficit nations do not desire to be dependent on

POSTMARK NEW YORK

U.S. Ambassador on Free Trade

man who will represent the forthcoming Republican administration to Winston Churchill and Clement Attlee. (The rapping sound coming from across the Atlantic is the sound of the quill.)

The role of local capital in the development of a new country under government guidance was described at the Foreign Trade meeting by Mr. Aldrich, Pakistan's Ambassador in Washington. On a much larger scale, and with more natural resources, Pakistan's situation superficially resembled Israel's: a new country born at birth with six million penniless refugees streaming across her borders from India. Pakistan's recovery has been remarkable: her industries, schools, hospitals built while 50 per cent of the national expenditure must go for defence until the war over Kashmir is settled.

Government's Role
 All American industry is in the hands of a handful of powerful, concentrated and monopolistic. In the development of a new country, the Government's role is limited to overall planning. However, it is private capital in the hands of a few powerful interests that is the key to the development of a new country. The Government's role is to create a favorable environment for private capital to operate in.

The new equipment which is being installed in the new country is being installed in the new country. The new equipment which is being installed in the new country is being installed in the new country.

our country," he had said. "Inexpensive nations and others allied to ourselves with to care and pay their own way. This they will be able to do if we are willing to permit the importation of the products of their skill and ingenuity."

Mr. Aldrich sees many commonalities between America today and Britain of the 19th century. Impoverishing wars, economic breakdown, the break-up of the British-controlled empire markets do not prevent Mr. Aldrich from returning to his economic fundamentals: "The free convertibility of currencies... the reduction of tariff barriers... the reduction of tariff barriers... the reduction of tariff barriers..."

Mr. Aldrich's last public appearance was at the World Trade Dinner at the 26th Annual Foreign Trade Convention at the Waldorf-Astoria ballroom on November 13, which I attended as the guest of an Israeli shipper. Mr. Aldrich pointed out on this occasion that there were four basic economic problems facing the "Free World":

All four are tied together and will be at the top of his mind during his economic talks in London. The deficit nations do not desire to be dependent on

From Jesse Zel Lurie

Man and Thing

WHICH is better, to set course for an ideal and refuse to admit it impossible, or to recognize frankly that human goodness never rises much above, say, 50 per cent, and perhaps only seldom gets that high? These who built the new House of Commons took the second attitude. They deliberately installed fewer seats than there are M.P.'s to be seated. By this they prudently avoided speakers from the depression of having to direct their words to stretches of empty seats, like speakers of rain in the Sahara. Full employment, the doctrine which has animated Britain since 1939, was now applied to the sitting positions of Conservative and Labour M.P.'s alike.

Plain horse sense, which prefers tidiness and keeping a job within the limits of safety factors, will sometimes defeat its own ends. Let us say that there is some young and enthusiastic M.P., resolved to let nothing pass unobserved, and to keep his energies always on a job within the limits of safety factors, will sometimes defeat its own ends. Let us say that there is some young and enthusiastic M.P., resolved to let nothing pass unobserved, and to keep his energies always on a job within the limits of safety factors, will sometimes defeat its own ends.

The new equipment which is being installed in the new country is being installed in the new country. The new equipment which is being installed in the new country is being installed in the new country.

So sure to read the next sheet of this series)

man who will represent the forthcoming Republican administration to Winston Churchill and Clement Attlee. (The rapping sound coming from across the Atlantic is the sound of the quill.)

The role of local capital in the development of a new country under government guidance was described at the Foreign Trade meeting by Mr. Aldrich, Pakistan's Ambassador in Washington. On a much larger scale, and with more natural resources, Pakistan's situation superficially resembled Israel's: a new country born at birth with six million penniless refugees streaming across her borders from India. Pakistan's recovery has been remarkable: her industries, schools, hospitals built while 50 per cent of the national expenditure must go for defence until the war over Kashmir is settled.

Government's Role
 All American industry is in the hands of a handful of powerful, concentrated and monopolistic. In the development of a new country, the Government's role is limited to overall planning. However, it is private capital in the hands of a few powerful interests that is the key to the development of a new country. The Government's role is to create a favorable environment for private capital to operate in.

The new equipment which is being installed in the new country is being installed in the new country. The new equipment which is being installed in the new country is being installed in the new country.

Readers' Letters

LAW AND LANGUAGE
 To the Editor of THE POST:

Sir, — In a letter published in your issue of November 20, Mr. Abel states that as far as he is aware there is no legal enactment stating that Hebrew, or indeed any other language or languages, is the official language of this country.

Mr. Abel appears to have overlooked both the Public Notice, headed "Use of Official Languages" published in the Official Gazette No. 23 dated 1.12.1950, and Article 22 of the Palestine Order in Council, 1922 (Drayton's Laws of Palestine, vol. III, p. 3,588), the marginal note to which reads "Official Language".

Paragraph 1 of the Public Notice provides that English, Arabic and Hebrew are recognized as the official languages of Palestine, and the Notice goes on to provide in detail for the use of the three languages in Ordinances, notices and forms, in correspondence with Government Departments, in telegrams, in Municipalities and other official bodies and in the Courts. Article 22 of the Order in Council, without derogating from the provisions of the Public Notice referred to above, also provides for publication in the three languages of all Ordinances, official notices and forms of the Government and of all notices of local authorities and municipalities, and for the use of the three languages in the Legislative Council, the Government Offices and the Law Courts. The reference to the Legislative Council was deleted in 1948, since no such Council was ever set up.

Both the Public Notice and the Article should appear to have remained in force as part of the laws of Israel by virtue of section 11 of the Law and Administration Ordinance 5708 — 1948, the first Ordinance enacted by the Provisional Council of State of the State of Israel, and whilst it is true that subsection (b) of section 11 of that Ordinance provides that any provision in the law requiring the use of the English language is repealed, it should be pointed out that the subsection in question neither purports to abolish English as an official language nor affects those provisions in the law which permit, as distinguished from those which require, the use of the English language.

Yours etc.,
 M. DEHAN

LUXURY FINE
 To the Editor of THE POST:

Sir, — I often wonder why so many drivers always stop their vehicles right in the middle of the road.

WIZO
 WOMEN'S INTERNATIONAL ZIONIST ORG.
 announces that the Luncheon Meetings will begin again today, December 3 at 1 p.m. at the WIZO Clubroom, 21 Balfour Haymarket, Tel Aviv.

HADASSAN CLUB FOR OVERSEAS VISITORS
 HADASSAN TOGETHER WITH WIZO
 Weekly Talks

JERUSALEM:
 Subject: "Work and Problems of WIZO in the New State"
 Speaker: Mrs. R. Glimmer, Chairman, Israel WIZO.
 Date: Wednesday, December 10.
 Time: 4:30 p.m.
 Place: Mrs. Kromschmid, 23 Rehov Aharonson, Rehavia.
 All members and visitors to Israel welcome.

KEEPING POSTED

We drank good coffee the other day in a small restaurant in a village that has been re-settled by immigrants from Bulgaria, and got talking with the sturdy woman who runs it. She didn't think much of the village, or of starting out in business all over again at her time of life. They had had a good shop in Sofia, that had been "nationalized." "Well," she said, with a vicious stab at a tomato. "I'm glad they're catching it now."

she mean Prague? Yes. But it wasn't much to do with the Czechs, any more than it had been the Bulgars who had nationalized her shop or beaten up her little boy for being out after 9 o'clock. "You people," she said, "never got beyond hating the Nazis. They at least admitted they hated Jews when they murdered them. And these people, they'll go on killing them and all the time tell you that it's all to stop anti-Semitism." Our flesh crept some more as we thought of a girl of 16 we knew, who has been a member of the Shomer Ha-tsair ever since she was a political consciousness about five years ago, and who left the room, outraged, when somebody began to speak of the Prague trial in her presence.

The mother of an 11-year-old boy tells us that she asked him on the other day what his plans were for the afternoon. He said that two friends of his were coming to, and they were going to talk about the Prague trial. She asked him rather testily what they knew about it? The boy really doesn't know anything, but he answered, he only came from Holland about a year ago. But the other one's from Budapest. "He probably knows a lot more about it than you do," Father volunteered. She left the boy to their private conversation.

gramme, and in the evening asked how it had gone. "We didn't talk about Prague after all," the boy said. "We talked about the jet planes. It seemed more important."

There appear to be various reasons why the circulation of a newspaper sometimes takes a jump, writes a correspondent. "I bought 'Al Hamishmar' a few days after the Sheny trial broke, to see what Mapam had to say about it that day. My news vendor, who has not been in Israel very long, said it was an extraordinary thing, the way that paper's picking up in popularity."

We decided long ago that we were tired of hearing about grumpy bus drivers, because it has always seemed to me that thing like purgatory to drive a clumsy bus in heavy traffic, all day long, with an endless stream of grumpy passengers pressing in on us, and we are not quite sure what to make of the following. A Haifa woman, who had just returned from a trip abroad was riding in a Mount Carmel bus when a man ventured to offer the driver an I.L.S. note and was about to be turned off. The passenger said he was sure he had some change somewhere, and the driver pulled up with his load of 40 passengers and said he would not go on till the wretch had got off. In her enthusiasm at being back home, the woman offered him a 100-griva note. He paid the driver and presently located his purse and gave back the money. Two stops later the same repeated itself, with a woman passenger short of 25 pruta. The traveller again took out her money, and offered it to the driver. He turned round furiously, and said you think you can sit here all day leading money to people just so that they don't have to get off? Who do you think you are, the National Bank?

Everybody in the know has been watching the dust skirts and sunnery head nervously, and looking at the brave green aprons in the field with an anxious eye. The observed have a word for it, for Talmudic law prescribes a prayer to be recited three times daily from the Feast of Tabernacles to

FLY-BOAC

TO ALL SIX CONTINENTS

Bookings and Information at all appointed Travel Agents or B.O.A.C.

TEL AVIV:
 4 Balfour Haymarket, Tel. 6784-4

JERUSALEM:
 King David Hotel Annex, Tel. 388

HAIFA:
 Barclays Bank Chambers, 55 Haatimot Road, Tel. 689

Booths Opened Always Corporation with Queen S.A.A. & TEAL

THE SILVER STREAM

Shower many others fish swimming through this "rainy" power. Hundreds of thousands of cubic metres of water were flowing towards the sea-nobody knew exactly how long until the idea was conceived of making use of this power. To-day, hundreds of thousands of men are sure their living thanks to the river.

So sure to read the next sheet of this series)

National Loan Certificates

Notice is hereby given that the following are payable as from December 15, 1952: —

- (1) All Certificates of IL-10 whose number ends with the figure 2. These are redeemable for IL-24.328.
- (2) Coupon No. 9 of all Certificates of: —
 IL 100 redeemable for IL 22.970
 IL 500 " " IL 110.357
 IL 1,000 " " IL 220.714

Income T. at the rate of 35 per cent on the interest included in the above payments will be deducted at source.

Coupons and IL-10 Certificates can be collected from all banks and other credit institutions which originally took subscriptions for the National Loan.

BANK LEUMI LE-ISRAEL B.M.
 Government Loans Administration

AKTIEBOLAGET TRANSMARIN

HELSINGBORG

REGULAR SAILINGS to and FROM LONDON, ANTWERP, ROTTERDAM, HAMBURG, BREMEN, ROSEN, ALGERIA.

Departures from Haifa and Tel Aviv

December 10/12 to discharge cargo and to accept freight for London, Rotterdam, Hamburg, Bremen and other ports in transshipment.

EXPECTED ARRIVALS

will leave Antwerp Dec. 9, Dunkirk Dec. 9, arriving at ISRAEL PORTS Dec. 10, 1952.

will leave Hamburg Dec. 10, Bremen Dec. 11, Antwerp Dec. 12, Rotterdam Dec. 13, Haifa Dec. 14.

will call on London, Hamburg, Bremen, Rotterdam, Antwerp, Dunkirk between Dec. 20 and Jan. 13, 1953.

For further particulars please apply to the General Agent in Israel

AARON ROSENFELD

HAIFA: 1 Balfour Haymarket, Tel. 6784-4
 JERUSALEM: King David Hotel Annex, Tel. 388
 HAIFA: 55 Haatimot Road, Tel. 689

HELP WIZO

TO TURN IMMIGRANTS INTO CITIZENS